

Cynthia Conner – 2nd Place

Congressional District Seven

Teacher: Tanji Harton

Pickens County High School

“The Best Marriage I know”

What is the best marriage you know? The best I know is from Tabatha and George Harris. They are my parents. They are very nice and so near and dear to me. There could be a lot of great parents, but they are the greatest parents I know. They are the kind of people who can make friends with anyone. You would be eager to meet them after you learn more about them. They are the kind of people who would make a couple want to get married. You can learn a lot of things from this couple. You might even want to meet them to learn more about the important facts of marriage.

My father passed not long ago while married to my mother. Still though, there are lots of unforgotten memories that I can describe that made their marriage great. The thing I think that made their marriage the best ever is their children. They have four of them together. Another thing is that they had been together for so long. They really loved each other. We always went on trips together. They were always there for their children. They got along very good and they worked their problems out when they didn't. They worked together on taking care of their children. They set good examples for us, like never fighting in front of us.

What have you learned from the best marriage you know? I have learned a lot of things from the best marriage I know. One thing I learned from this marriage is to never let anything come between your marriage. If you have children while married, take care of them. They need both their parents. They didn't ask to be here, so take that opportunity to show your kids what life is all about. I also learned that you should keep your home a welcoming place. I learned that a married couple should keep their problems between their spouses. Others that lie outside their house could ruin your relationship if you listen to them. I also found out that cheating can ruin a perfect relationship.

Some words that can describe the best marriage I know are honesty, respect, trust, and everlasting. I chose honesty because you have to be able to believe your spouse won't lie to you. Respect because that person loves you and cares about your feelings. Trust so that you won't have to worry when your spouse goes out alone from place to place, and so you won't have a argument for nothing. Last, everlasting because the best marriage I know lasted for so long, until one person passed away.

I have given very important details to describe the best marriage I know. I told you who they are, what made their marriage great, what I learned from them, and words that describe the marriage. Would you want to meet them? I really do think so.